

New friends, new ideas: A natural happening at Kett!

EACH YEAR, TEENS CAN:

- Get away from home.
- Meet people from all over Michigan.
- Have some fun with your friends.
- And, learn more about themselves and their 4-H project area.

WHERE?

At Kettunen Center, the natural place for 4-H'ers!

At Kettunen Center, 4-H members can meet other young people interested in learning more and doing more in their specific project areas or as 4-H leaders in their local communities. They also connect with adults who share their interests in key topics or around key issues.

THERE'S ALSO LOTS TO DO!

If you enjoy hiking, fishing, swimming and boating during warm months and snow-shoeing and skiing during winter and bonfires and dances all year round, then YES, Kettunen Center can be great fun! There are 160 acres of forests and wetlands located along Center Lake to explore. Top that with the chance to learn more about what you really love doing in 4-H, and it's easy to see why you should go natural and go Kett!

INTERESTED?

Then let your county 4-H educator know!

Current 4-H weekend workshops at Kettunen Center are listed here and can be found online with full descriptions at <http://web1.msue.msu.edu/cyf/youth/4htrain.html>. To register, pick a workshop or two and then talk to your county 4-H staff member about what you need to do to get there.

You can attend a workshop:

- As a group overnight with your 4-H club.
- With your parents.
- Or with a group of friends who are as interested in a topic as you are and want to learn more.

Just know that however you come, you'll need to be accompanied by an adult for every five teens in your group.
